FAMINE IN TRAVANCORE.

THE friends of the Society will have read with great pain, in the Missionary Magazines for February, March, and April, the communications recently received from our missionaries in Travancore, describing the fearful effects of the famine which has for many months prevailed in that province of Southern India, and by which multitudes of the native population, both Christian and heathen, have been reduced to beggary, disease, and death. Assured that the facts thus communicated would call forth a suitable response from the friends of humanity and religion, the Directors did not deem it necessary to issue a special appeal upon the subject; and the contributions already placed at their disposal for the relief of the sufferers show that their confidence was not misplaced. While, however, they are grateful for the timely and valuable help already rendered, and feel convinced that it will be highly appreciated by the Missionaries, and prove invaluable to the sufferers, the Directors believe that a much larger amount will yet be required to procure food for the destitute multitudes. They would, therefore, earnestly solicit further aid for this most pressing object, either by personal donations or congregational collections; assuring their friends that their bounty will cheer the hearts of the devoted men who labour in the midst of the famishing and dying thousands, and, through God's blessing, save not a few from going down to the grave, and contribute to the future extension of the Gospel.

Signed on behalf of the Directors,

ARTHUR TIDMAN, } Secretaries.
